Deputy Electoral Commissioner appointed

His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor has today appointed Mr Andrew Hawkey as Deputy Electoral Commissioner.

Mr Hawkey, 39, has previously filled a number of roles at the Tasmanian Electoral Commission, the Teachers Registration Board and the Department of Education. He holds a Bachelor of Science (Hons) and a Graduate Certificates in Public Sector Management and Electoral Administration.

Electoral Commissioner Julian Type welcomed the appointment, saying that Andrew's passion for elections and strong track record in technological innovation placed the Commission in a strong position to meet the challenges ahead.
