

The Minister for Justice
The Honourable Peter Patmore MHA

I am honoured to submit this report on Tasmanian Parliamentary elections conducted during 1998.

Reduction in the number of Members of Parliament

The Parliamentary Reform Act 1998 reduced the number of Members in the House of Assembly from 35 to 25, and the Legislative Council from 19 to 15 Members.

The reduction in the number of House of Assembly Members occurred at the 1998 election by reducing the number elected to each of the five electoral divisions from seven to five. Under the Hare-Clark electoral system, the election of five candidates raised the quota required for election from approximately 7,500 votes (12.5%) to approximately 10,000 votes (16.7%).

The reduction in the number of Legislative Council Members was referred to the Legislative Council Electoral Boundaries Redistribution Tribunal. The Tribunal determined—

- the names and boundaries of the 15 new Legislative Council divisions
- the transition arrangements to implement the reduction of the number of Members.

Previously, Legislative Council Members were elected on a periodical cycle with three divisions going to election each year, and 4 every sixth year. Once the transition process is completed, a new periodic cycle of 2 or 3 divisions going to election in alternate years will be established. Details of the new periodic cycle are shown on page 3.

1998 House of Assembly Election

A general election for the House of Assembly was held on 29 August 1998.

Since the release of the previous report on Parliamentary Elections (1995 to 1997) no casual vacancies have occurred in the House of Assembly.

The reduction in the number of Members to be elected resulted in political parties standing fewer candidates than in 1996. 138 candidates (95 men and 43 women) contested the 1998 House of Assembly elections, compared with 158 in 1996.

1998 was the first House of Assembly election at which eligible electors in Antarctica were entitled to vote following amendments to the Electoral Act 1985. Of the 41 Tasmanians registered as Antarctic voters, 16 electors were situated on Antarctic bases during the elections.

The Tasmanian Electoral Office established a website (www.electoral.tas.gov.au) one month prior to the House of Assembly elections. This enabled election information and results to be widely accessible and live figures immediately available for the first time.

On polling night, results were regularly updated at the tally-room and on the website. The website also included the ABC television live telecast from the tally-room. Following polling night, the results on the website were updated and the progressive results were displayed throughout the distribution of preferences.

Throughout the election period, the website received over 200,000 'hits' from over 30 countries.

Legislative Council Elections

In May 1998 three Legislative Council periodical elections were held.

In September 1998 a by-election was conducted following the resignation of the Member for Newdegate, the Honourable R W Ginn. Information and results for the by-election were available on the website.

Change of Address & Electoral Enrolment Form

A new form was developed by a cross-Agency steering committee to allow the public to notify change of address details for a variety of State Government purposes and to enrol or change enrolment details for Federal, State and Local Government elections. The Tasmanian Electoral Office is the lead Agency for the project.

This additional enrolment form was introduced with the commencement of the Service Tasmania Shopfronts in January 1998.

Tasmania's Hare-Clark Electoral System

The Hare-Clark electoral system is a Single Transferable Vote (STV) method of proportional representation used in multi-member electorates. Single transferable vote means that each ballot paper has a value of 1 vote and moves between candidates as determined by the elector's preferences.

Background and features

Where does the name Hare-Clark come from?

Thomas Hare was an Englishman who, in 1856, proposed the idea of a proportional representation election system which was further developed and became known as the Hare system. Andrew Inglis Clark, Tasmanian Attorney-General 1888 and a member of the Tasmanian Parliament, introduced a modified version of the Hare system into Tasmanian law in 1896. This system is now known as the Hare-Clark electoral system.

Representation in the Parliament

Under Hare-Clark, parties, groups and independents are elected to the House of Assembly in proportion to their support in the electorate. The composition of the House closely reflects the proportion of primary votes on a State-wide basis.

Robson Rotation

Robson Rotation is a process of rotating candidate names within a column so that favoured (top and bottom) positions are shared equally between all candidates. Neil Robson, a member of the House of Assembly, introduced the process to the Parliament in 1979.

Need for parties to stand extra candidates

Parties and groups usually nominate more candidates than they expect to be elected, in order to provide a pool of candidates to contest any recount to fill a vacancy.

As a result, the voters are provided with a choice of candidates within each party, as well as a choice of candidates across parties, groups and independents.

Recounts

When a vacancy occurs a new member is elected by a recount process based on votes cast at the previous general election. Only unsuccessful candidates at the general election are eligible to contest the recount.

Only the ballot papers which were used to elect the vacating member are distributed in the recount. These votes are distributed to contesting candidates. The candidates receiving the least votes are excluded until a candidate receives a majority (50% + 1).

Is Hare Clark used in Local Government elections

The Hare-Clark system is used for Tasmanian Local Government elections with some changes. The number to be elected – depending on the election and the council. Candidates are listed in a single column, Robson Rotation was adopted in 1999 and candidates are not identified with any party or group.

A broad description

How do you cast a vote

The ballot paper directs the voter to— place the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and so on as the case requires, beside the names of the candidates in the order of his/her preference.

To be formal for the House of Assembly, a ballot paper must have at least the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 (the number to be elected) with no repetitions or omissions.

How is a candidate elected?

A candidate is elected when his/her total number of votes equals or exceeds the quota.

What is the quota?

The quota is the lowest number of votes a candidate needs to be certain of election.

To calculate the quota, the number of formal votes is divided by one more than the number of candidates to be elected (rounded up to the next whole number). For the House of Assembly, which elects five members per electorate, the quota is one sixth or 16.7% of the formal votes.

If five candidates each receive a quota (just over one sixth of the formal vote) then less than one quota of the votes remain.

How votes are counted

The first step is to distribute all ballot papers to the candidates according to each ballot paper's first preference. The quota is then calculated from the total formal vote.

If any candidate(s) receives more votes than the quota, he/she is declared elected, and the excess votes (surplus) are passed on to continuing candidates. Following the distribution of each surplus, any candidate(s) who has reached the quota is declared elected; and any resulting surplus again passed on.

Once all surplus votes have been distributed the candidate with the fewest votes is excluded and all of their votes passed on to continuing candidates. Further candidates are excluded until another candidate reaches the quota.

The process of distributing surplus votes and excluding candidates continues until five candidates reach the quota. In some cases the final candidate(s) will be elected without reaching the quota as all other candidates have been either elected or excluded.

Do you always need a quota to get elected?

In House of Assembly elections, it is common that the last elected member in a division is elected without obtaining a quota. In some cases the last two elected members in a division are elected without each obtaining a quota.

During the distribution of preferences, some votes are "lost" from the count. A small number are lost due to rounding of fractional numbers. A more significant number of votes are "exhausted" toward the end of the count, as many ballot papers do not show a preference for any remaining candidate.

Where the contest for the last seat is close, it is common for the remaining two candidates to both have less than a quota. The candidate with the least votes is excluded, and the other candidate elected without reaching the quota. The more votes that are lost during the scrutiny, the more likely that not all elected members will obtain the quota.

A less common situation occurs where remaining three candidates are contesting the last two seats. In this case, the candidate with the least votes is excluded, and the other two candidates elected without either reaching the quota.
