Introduction

This booklet is an easy reading summary of important information for all intending local government election candidates. The booklet has been organised in line with the following election stages:

- » commencement – with the publication of the notice of election
- » the nomination period
- » the voting period
- » the counting and declaration of the poll ('closing day').

While candidate campaigning flows across all of these stages (and may commence earlier), it has been treated as a separate topic which is located towards the end of the booklet.

This booklet, additional information specific to the 2026 local government elections, forms and previous election results are available on the Tasmanian Electoral Commission (TEC) website — www.tec.tas.gov.au. Please contact the TEC or your returning officer if you have any further queries.

Election rules

The rules for Tasmanian local government elections are established by the Local Government Act 1993 ("the Act") and the Local Government (General) Regulations 2025 ("the Regulations") and approved election forms and procedures.

Candidates should be aware that the role of the TEC and returning officers is to administer the election in accordance with the Act and the Regulations. While interpretation of the Act and the Regulations forms part of the function of returning officers, it is not their role to provide legal advice to candidates.

For ease of reading, some sections of the Act, and the Regulations, have been paraphrased. However, it is important to note that this booklet has no legal status and should not be substituted for the Act or the Regulations themselves.

How to access the Act and other legislation

The Act and other up-to-date Tasmanian Acts and Regulations can be accessed online at www.legislation.tas.gov.au.

It is in the best interests of candidates to obtain legal interpretation of the relevant legislation from their own legal advisors.

Other quick points

The word ‘candidate’ is used in a general sense in this booklet to mean either an ‘intending candidate’ or a ‘candidate’ as defined in the Act.

Unless otherwise specified, section references in subject headings are from the Act.

Useful tip: Shaded boxes in the booklet highlight practical advice for candidates.

Changes for the 2026 local government elections

Targeted reforms

As at 28 May 2026, the Tasmanian Parliament is considering a targeted reform bill which may make two significant electoral changes prior to the 2026 local government elections:

- » an overall reduction in the number of councillors to be elected
- » a new ability for the TEC to approve alternative voting procedures to support interstate and overseas voters, and voters with a print disability.

Any approved alternative voting procedures made in accordance with amended legislation will be published on the TEC website ahead of the polling period.

Notice of election

Publication of notice

(sections 44, 46 & 269)

A local government 'notice of election' is similar to a writ for a Parliamentary election. It specifies the:

- » date and time of closure of the rolls,
- » vacancies to be filled,
- » details of entitlement to vote, and
- » any other matter the Electoral Commissioner considers appropriate.

For statewide local government elections, the Electoral Commissioner will advertise the notice of election in daily Tasmanian newspapers on the 8th Saturday before closing day. Closing day is the last day of the polling period and is set down as the last Tuesday in October every four years unless the Governor changes this by an order under section 268A of the Act.

Councillors, mayors and deputy mayors are elected for a period of four years from the issue of the certificate of election until the issue of the next certificate of election.

For council by-elections, in accordance with section 308 of the Act, the Electoral Commissioner fixes the closing day, and, in consultation with the general manager of the Council, sets the day the notice of the by-election is advertised, the nomination period and the close of rolls.

Nomination

Nomination as a councillor

(section 270)

To be nominated, you must:

- » be an elector in the municipal area, and
- » have your principal place of residence in Tasmania.

You must not:

- » be a councillor of another council whose term of office is to end after the issue of the certificate of election,
- » have been barred by a court (under section 48(6), 338A, 339 or 339A of the Act) from nominating as a candidate,
- » be an employee of the council in that municipal area,
- » have previously been removed from the office of councillor because of inadequacy or incompetence,
- » be bankrupt,
- » be subject to an assessment order or treatment order under the Mental Health Act 2013 or an order under the Guardianship and Administration Act 1995,
- » be undergoing a term of imprisonment, or
- » have been sentenced for a crime but the sentence has not been executed.

A person may not be a candidate for the office of councillor in more than one municipal area.

Nomination as mayor or deputy mayor

(section 41)

Anyone eligible to be nominated as a councillor is also entitled to be nominated as a candidate for mayor or deputy mayor. A person may not:

- » be a candidate for both the offices of mayor and deputy mayor concurrently, or
- » accept the office of mayor or deputy mayor unless they are also an elected councillor.

Nomination forms for the positions of councillor, mayor or deputy mayor can be downloaded from the TEC's website and are also available in hardcopy at the Tasmanian Electoral Commission.

Candidates contesting two positions need only complete a single nomination form.

The nomination form

(section 271)

A nomination form (referred to as a 'notice of nomination' in the Act) must be:

- » signed by at least 2 electors of the municipal area,
- » signed by the candidate, and
- » lodged, posted or faxed so as to be received by the returning officer or electoral officer for the council concerned before the close of nominations.

If your name has changed from that on the electoral roll you must provide:

- » evidence in writing of the change of name, and
- » a statement specifying the form in which your name is to appear on the ballot paper.

The returning officer may accept a second nomination form, in substitution for the first, up to 24 hours after the close of nominations if satisfied that the first form:

- » needs to be altered, completed, corrected or substituted, and
- » was lodged, posted or faxed, and received by the close of nominations.

Late nominations cannot be accepted.

Candidate statements and photographs

(section 284)

Candidate statements are provided in the postal ballot packs to provide information about candidates to assist voters in making an informed choice. They are intended to supplement, rather than replace, other means which candidates may use to bring their candidature to the attention of electors.

To be included in the candidate statements booklet, your candidate statement and photo must be submitted using the online form provided on the TEC website, before the end of the nomination period (12 noon Monday 21 September 2026). Please refer to the TEC website during the nomination period for further information.

Statements and photographs are not compulsory for a valid nomination.

Requirements for candidate statements and photographs are to be approved by the Commission under section 284(4). These are currently under review and will be published on the TEC website prior to the commencement of the nominations period.

Candidate statement requirements

This section has been left intentionally blank at the time of publication as the requirements for candidate statements are currently under review by the Commission. The requirements will be published on the TEC website prior to the commencement of the nominations period.

The match code

To help us match each nomination form with the correct candidate statement, you are asked to create your own 'match code'. This can be anything you like – just a simple 'match code' that you enter on both your paper nomination form, and your online candidate statements form.

Acceptance or rejection of nomination

(section 272)

The returning officer may accept your nomination if satisfied that:

- » the form that has been completed —
 - has signatures from at least 2 persons enrolled for the municipal area,
 - is signed by you, as the candidate, and
 - is received by the returning officer before the close of nominations.
- » your name is on the electoral roll for the municipal area,
- » your name is the name you normally use, and
- » your name is not obscene, frivolous or assumed for an ulterior purpose.

The returning officer will advise a person whether their nomination is accepted or rejected as soon as possible after making the decision. Where possible, the returning officers will communicate with candidates via email.

Appealing the returning officer's decision

A person may appeal to the Commission against the rejection of a nomination no later than 24 hours after the end of the nomination period. In considering an appeal, the Commission may either direct the returning officer to accept the nomination or confirm the rejection of the nomination. A decision of the Commission is final.

Election roll

(section 261)

Accepted candidates can request a single printed copy of the election roll from the returning officer. Electronic copies of the election roll cannot be provided. The roll may only be used for purposes connected with the election, and strict penalties apply for misuse.

Note that the election roll cannot be produced until after the close of rolls. Candidates should therefore not expect a copy of the election roll to be immediately available to them at the time of acceptance of their nomination; however, they will be made available as promptly as reasonably possible after this time.

Following the completion of the election, candidates should destroy the copy of the roll they hold or return it to the TEC for destruction.

Withdrawal of nomination

(section 273)

You may withdraw your nomination for an election by lodging, posting, or faxing a notice in writing (which you have signed), which must be received by the returning officer before the close of nominations. Late withdrawals cannot be accepted.

Publication of nominations

(sections 275 & 276)

At 12 noon on the day after nominations close, the returning officer will formally announce the candidates contesting each ballot and undertake a draw to determine the order of candidates' names on the first rotation of ballot papers for councillors, mayor and deputy mayor.

The returning officer is also required to display a notice at the council office, listing the name and address of each person whose nomination has been accepted.

Soon after 12 noon on the day after nominations close, the TEC will publish all candidate names for each election on its website and in a media release. The Electoral Commissioner will also publish candidate details and issuing places open during the voting period in the relevant daily newspapers.

Voting

Who can vote

(sections 254 – 258)

Anyone who is enrolled on the State roll for an address in a municipal area is automatically enrolled for that municipal area. Other persons who:

- » own or occupy land in the municipal area, and are not already eligible via the State roll, or
- » are the nominated representatives of a corporate body (which owns or occupies land in the municipal area), are also eligible to vote but must lodge an enrolment application with the General Manager for the municipal area prior to roll closure.

Voting in local government elections is compulsory for all electors on the State roll for the municipal area.

Order of names on ballot papers

(section 288 & regulations)

Candidates' names on ballot papers are rotated in accordance with the 'Robson Rotation' system (as set out in the Local Government (General) Regulations 2025) so that each candidate name appears in each position on the ballot paper.

Following the announcement of candidates, the returning officer will conduct a draw to determine the order of candidate names for the first rotation.

Postal ballot pack

(section 284)

After the close of the nomination period, all electors will be sent a postal ballot pack. The postal ballot pack will contain:

- » ballot paper(s),
- » a booklet containing voting instructions and candidate statements and photographs,
- » a ballot paper envelope in which to place the completed ballot paper(s), and
- » a reply-paid envelope to return the ballot paper envelope.

Replacement postal ballot pack

(section 286)

Electors may request a replacement postal ballot pack from the TEC via email or by phone. Electors may also request a replacement postal ballot pack at the issuing place appointed for their council (often located at the council office, but please consult the TEC website for confirmed information closer to the voting period).

Security measures are in place to ensure that an elector can cast only one vote.

How to return a vote

Electors should return their completed postal ballot pack as soon as possible, to ensure the returning officer receives it before the close of the poll.

Electors may also be able to physically deliver their vote by placing it in the ballot box at the council (check the TEC website for confirmed arrangements closer to the voting period). Completed ballot papers must be sealed within the signed ballot paper envelope.

Security and privacy of the postal ballot

(section 285)

The Electoral Commission takes very seriously the right of electors to cast their vote in a secret and secure manner. To this end, there are a number of measures in place to ensure the safe delivery and return of your ballot paper. In particular:

- » to protect the privacy of the elector in the postal system:

no elector details are shown on the reply-paid envelope,

- » to verify that the eligible elector has voted on the ballot paper:

the elector must sign the perforated declaration flap on the ballot paper envelope,

- » to ensure the secrecy of the vote:

- when the envelope is received by the returning officer — the perforated declaration flap containing the electors' details and signature is removed from the still sealed envelope and stored separately (after marking the elector as having voted), and
- after the close of the poll — the ballot papers are removed from the declaration envelope.

If the TEC establishes any alternative voting procedures for the 2026 local government elections (pending the passage of reform legislation through the Parliament), details of the procedure—including the security provisions that will protect as far as possible the secrecy of the vote—will be published on the TEC website.

Scrutineers

Role of the scrutineer

(section 293)

Scrutineers represent the candidate at any place where ballot material is sorted, checked or counted. While acting as a scrutineer, a person must not:

- » fail to comply with a reasonable direction given by an electoral officer,
- » communicate with a person except if necessary to do so while scrutineering, or
- » without authority, touch or interfere with ballot material.

Your returning officer will advise you when the issue, scrutiny and counting of ballot papers is taking place, and provide guidance on the number of scrutineers permitted.

Appointment of scrutineers

(sections 292 & 293)

A candidate is entitled to appoint scrutineers. Scrutineers may not be candidates at that election. The appointment of a scrutineer is to be:

- » in an approved form, and
- » signed by the candidate and the scrutineer.

Signed appointment forms are to be presented to the returning officer or the electoral officer in charge who will provide an identity badge to be worn by the scrutineer.

Returning officers provide 'Appointment of scrutineer' forms to candidates.

Closing day

Close of poll (closing day)

(section 268A)

Closing day is the last day of the polling period. It is the last Tuesday in October every four years, unless the Governor fixes another day. The Electoral Commissioner sets the hours of the polling period.

For the 2026 elections, the polling period will conclude at 2.00pm on Tuesday 27 October. All votes must be received by this time.

Formal votes

(sections 289, 290 & 300 & Schedule 6)

Councillor ballot paper

For a councillor ballot paper to be formal, as a minimum the elector must record preferences:

- » 1 to 5 (where 5 or more candidates are to be elected), or
- » 1 to [the number to be elected] (where less than 5 candidates are to be elected).

There can be no omission or repetition of preferences within the range of numbers.

For example: If there are 7 councillors to be elected, to cast a formal vote an elector must number at least 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Mayor and deputy mayor ballot paper

For a mayor or deputy mayor ballot paper to be formal, as a minimum the elector must mark the ballot paper by placing the number 1 in the box next to the name of the candidate of the elector's first preference.

Voters are encouraged to record a preference for all candidates listed on the ballot paper.

Informal votes

(section 300 & Schedule 6)

A ballot paper will be treated as informal if:

- » no vote has been recorded on it,
- » the vote is recorded on the ballot paper otherwise than in accordance with section 290 (see above formality requirements),
- » it contains a mark or writing which will identify the voter, or
- » it has not been appropriately authenticated (by an approved security wash on the ballot paper).

A ballot paper is not to be treated as informal if, in the opinion of the returning officer, the elector's intention is clearly indicated.

Electoral processes after the close of the poll

Activities on closing day – after 2.00pm

Immediately following the close of the poll:

- » Ballot boxes at issuing places will be sealed and transported to the offices of the returning officer
- » Ballot papers will be extracted from the declaration envelopes already received by the returning officer.

Later in the evening, completed postal ballot packs transported from relevant council offices (or any other TEC-designated issuing place) will be processed and added to already extracted ballot papers.

No counting will occur on closing day.

Counting mayor and deputy mayor ballot papers

The hand counting of all mayor ballot papers will commence late Wednesday morning, after the inclusion of ballot papers received at council issuing locations. It is anticipated that first preference figures, and in some cases indicative mayoral election results, will begin to become available from around mid-afternoon.

Hand counting of deputy mayor ballot papers will commence either following the completion of the mayor ballot for the relevant council, or from 3.00 pm, whichever occurs earlier. The Commission aims to publish first preference figures for all mayor and deputy mayor ballots on the day after closing day

While every effort will be made to progress counts as efficiently as possible, final mayor and deputy mayor results for some councils may not be known until later in the week. This is likely for councils with larger fields of candidates or where counts are closely contested and require additional distribution of preferences to determine the result.

Data entry of councillor ballot papers

At the 2026 elections, preferences from councillor ballot papers for all councils will again be recorded at either the Launceston or Hobart data entry centre. This will support computer-based recounts to replace any elected councillors who do not finish their terms.

To ensure accuracy, every councillor ballot paper is recorded into the data entry system twice, by two different data entry operators.

The system compares both entries:

- » If the entries match, the ballot paper is accepted into the count.
- » If there is a difference between the two entries, the ballot paper is referred to a team leader for verification.

The Commission is hoping to have provisional partial first preference and distribution results for all councillor ballots (either 20% or 50% of ballot papers entered – first entry) on the evening of the first day after closing day. However, the completion of the data entry process will continue into the following week.

Counting systems for local government elections

The Hare-Clark counting system

Like the process for counting House of Assembly votes in Tasmania, local government councillor elections use the Hare-Clark counting system.

The Hare-Clark counting system is a single transferable vote (STV) method of proportional representation used in multi-member electorates. Single transferable vote means that a ballot paper moves between candidates as determined by the elector's preferences.

How are candidates elected?

A candidate is elected when their total number of votes equals or exceeds the quota. To calculate the quota, the number of formal votes is divided by one more than the number of candidates to be elected. This figure is then rounded up to the next whole number.

The number of the elected candidate's votes that exceed the quota (the surplus votes) are passed on to candidates remaining in the count using the preferences shown on the ballot papers. If no other candidate has a surplus of votes, the candidate with the lowest number of votes is excluded from the count and their ballot papers are passed on to candidates remaining in the count using the preferences shown on the ballot papers.

These two processes continue until the required number of candidates are elected. A more detailed explanation can be found on the TEC website.

2 decimal places: Due to the relatively small number of electors in some municipal areas, votes for each candidate in all councils will be calculated to 2 decimal places during the distribution of preferences to reduce the loss of votes by fraction.

The counting system for mayor and deputy mayor ballots

The system for counting votes for mayor and deputy mayor ballots is similar to the system used for counting the Legislative Council and (federal) House of Representative votes.

How are candidates elected?

A candidate is elected if they have a majority of the total votes cast. If no candidate has a majority, then the candidate with the lowest number of votes is excluded from the count and their ballot papers are passed on to other candidates remaining in the count using the preferences shown on the ballot papers. The process of exclusion continues until one candidate has a majority of the votes.

A person cannot take up the office of mayor or deputy mayor unless the person is also elected as a councillor.

Advertising

Electoral advertising

(section 3, 278 & regulations)

Electoral advertising is defined in the Act as:

Any advertising, by any of the following means, that is directly or indirectly in respect of a campaign for election by a candidate or intending candidate:

- a) any notice, sign or poster,
- b) any pamphlet or handbill,
- c) any “how-to-vote” card,
- d) any print medium,
- e) any broadcast by radio or television,
- f) on the internet.

A person must not purchase electoral advertising time or space in relation to the election of a candidate without the written authority of that candidate.

Printed electoral advertising material

(section 311)

All articles relating to an election that are printed, published, kept on display or distributed between the notice of election and the end of the polling period must contain the true name and address of the person taking responsibility for the article.

“Address” means:

an address, other than a post office box or an electronic address:

- g) at which the responsible person resides, or
- h) at or through which the responsible person may be readily contacted.

The above requirements apply to any advertisement, direct mail item, sign, circular, pamphlet, handbill, poster, sticker, dodger, and report.

This does not apply to the printing or publication of:

- » a leading article, or
- » an article that consists solely of a report of a meeting and does not contain any comment (other than comment made by a speaker at the meeting) on a candidate at an election or on the issues being submitted to the electors at the election.

If you are unsure whether a particular item requires the responsible person’s name and address, it is sensible to include them.

Example of appropriate details:

Responsible person: Jane Citizen, 1 Long Road, Hobart

‘Prescribed’ and ‘relevant’ periods

Electoral advertising return

(section 279)

All candidates must lodge with the Electoral Commissioner an electoral advertising return within 45 days after the certificate of election is issued. Candidates must declare all electoral advertising in their returns, and include all invoices, accounts and receipts. Candidates must sign the completed return in front of a Justice of the Peace or Commissioner for Declarations.

Candidates need to consider costs such as:

- » design costs for printed advertising,
- » materials for erecting signs,
- » stationery and postage or delivery costs for mail outs to electors,
- » production costs for newspaper advertising or television advertising,
- » productions costs, and costs of showing online advertising,
- » website development, and
- » printing costs of advertising via business cards, stickers, fliers, balloons etc.

It is an offence not to complete and lodge a timely return with the Electoral Commissioner. The penalty that may be imposed by a court for this offence is a fine of up to 30 penalty units.

The return must be completed on the approved form available from the TEC.

All electoral advertising expenditure must be declared

Electoral advertising is defined in section 3 of the Act to include:

- » any notice, sign or poster,
- » any pamphlet or handbill,
- » any “how-to-vote” card,
- » any print medium,
- » any broadcast by radio or TV, and
- » advertising on the internet.

Candidates are required to declare all forms of advertising costs in an ‘electoral advertising return’. The return is available on the TEC website and will be sent to each candidate once their nomination has been accepted.

All electoral advertising used during the relevant period is to be included in the expenditure limit. This means every candidate must declare the costs incurred for all electoral advertising used during the relevant period, including costs incurred prior to 6 August for electoral advertising used on or after 6 August 2026.

The expenditure limits for 2026 are:

- » $21,000 for all candidates contesting Clarence City, Glenorchy City, Hobart City, Kingborough or Launceston City elections.
- » $13,000 for all candidates contesting an election for any other Tasmanian local government council.

The relevant period for the 2026 elections is 6 August to 27 October 2026.

As the expenditure limit relates to the costs incurred, these limits are inclusive of GST.

Are candidates reimbursed their election expenditure?

Expenditure returns are required to ensure candidates comply with the candidate expenditure limits set in the Act. The legislation does not include any provisions to reimburse any candidate expenditure.

Joint electoral advertising

(regulation 22(2))

Regulation 22(2) provides that:

‘A candidate is taken to have incurred the total time and space of, and expenditure involved in, advertising which promotes that candidate, in respect of an election, irrespective of whether or not that electoral advertising also promotes another candidate.’

In other words, in the case of joint advertising, all candidates involved are required to declare the total time and space and expense of any advertisements in their electoral advertising returns.

Electoral Commissioner’s responsibilities

(section 280)

The Electoral Commissioner must be satisfied that each return is authentic and accurate and that all particulars that ought to have been included in the return have been included. As part of this assessment, the Commissioner will evaluate the total expenditure incurred by the candidate to ensure compliance with section 278 of the Act and the Regulations.

For the 2026 local government elections, the Electoral Commissioner, for the purpose of assessing candidate returns, is of the view that:

- » The full cost of new signs must be declared in the return. Re-used signs do not need to have a cost assigned to them; however, costs involved in updating existing materials (e.g. overlay stickers with new dates or personal details) do need to be included.

- » In lieu of providing receipts for any materials and costs to erect signs, each candidate can declare a cost of $2 per sign as the set-up cost.
- » The full cost provided on any invoice must be declared. Where an invoice includes a discount or reimbursement of a commission, the original full cost is to be declared, as these deductions cannot be included in the return.

Candidates must complete an electoral advertising return, even if no expenditure has been incurred.

Consequences for exceeding expenditure limits

(section 278)

If a candidate exceeds their expenditure limit for electoral advertising used during the relevant period, a court may impose a penalty of a fine up to 100 penalty units.

Further, if a court convicts a candidate who is successful at an election, the court must declare that candidate's election void, unless the court is satisfied that there are special circumstances that make it undesirable or inappropriate for it to make such a declaration.

The value of a penalty unit is indexed each year in accordance with the Penalty Units and Other Penalties Act 1987, based on movements in the consumer price index. More information, including the value current at the time of the elections, can be found on the Department of Justice website – www.justice.tas.gov.au

Placement of campaign material

Posters and signs

(regulation 21)

A person must not publicly display a poster or sign relating to the election of a candidate without the written authority of that candidate.

Council planning schemes outline any restrictions on the size of signs, the earliest signs can be displayed without a permit, and when they must come down. Please check with your Council as to what applies in your local government area.

Permission: Candidates considering affixing signs in public places or to vehicles should ensure they have all required permissions.

Safety: Signs should not be placed in positions that could jeopardise public safety, for example, near 'stop' signs, traffic lights, intersections or any other position where road users could be distracted or have their sight obstructed.

Placement of posters

Permission to display posters on private property must always be obtained from the owner of the land concerned. It is generally not permitted to place signs or posters on public land or infrastructure.

Election and political advertising on state roads

The Roads and Jetties Act 1935 requires a permit to be issued by Building Tasmania for the erection of any sign or banner (including signs mounted on trailers) within the state road reservation.

Building Tasmania does not issue permits for election campaign advertising signs or, more generally, for signs of a political nature on the state road network.

Any signs erected on a state road without a permit will be removed and stored for a 14-day period.

For further information about which roads are part of the state road network and how to retrieve any of your signs that have been removed, please consult:

https://www.transport.tas.gov.au/road_permits/election-and-political-advertising-on-state-roads

Offence to place electoral matter on electricity poles

The Australian Communication and Media Authority regulates broadcasting of political and election matters and the content of electronic communications. Further information is available on its website.

Filling a casual vacancy

A councillor casual vacancy is filled by recount, if possible, unless that vacancy occurs during the period commencing 6 months before the day on which the notice of election for a forthcoming council election is to be given.

Councillor recounts

(sections 307 & 308 & Schedule 8)

In a recount, the electors who elected the vacating member determine that councillor's replacement. Therefore, only the ballot papers received by the vacating councillor are distributed in the recount. The newly elected candidate remains as a councillor until the next ordinary council election.

A person may be included in a recount for a vacancy so long as they:

- » were a candidate not elected at the relevant election,
- » remain eligible (see 'Nomination' section), and
- » consent to be included in the recount.

The Electoral Commissioner is required to notify candidates that a recount will take place by either:

- » written notice sent to each eligible candidate, or
- » an advertisement published in a local daily newspaper.

If a candidate wishes to be included in a recount, they can provide written consent in person or by post, fax or scan. Written consent must be received by the Electoral Commissioner at or before noon, on the 8th day after the notice of vacancy.

Candidates who have consented will receive a notice detailing the time and location at which the recount will take place. Recounts will be finalised within 7 days of the close of nominations.

By-elections

(section 308)

By-elections will only occur when:

- » a vacancy cannot be filled by recount, or
- » the vacating councillor is also the mayor: in this case the councillor vacancy is filled at a by-election held concurrently with the mayoral by-election.

The office of a councillor becomes vacant if, at the time of commencing to hold that office, they are a member of the House of Assembly or Legislative Council and remain such a member for 30 days continuously during their term of office as a councillor.

The office of a councillor also becomes vacant if the councillor becomes a member of the House of Assembly or Legislative Council.
